The report of the Secretary-General on Implementing the responsibility to protect (A/63/677) responds to paragraphs 139 and 139 of the 2005 World Summit Outcome whereby Heads of State and Government unanimously affirmed that "each individual State has the responsibility to protect its populations from genocide, war crimes, ethnic cleansing and crimes against humanity". The report outlines a three-pillar strategy for advancing the agenda mandated by the Heads of State and Government at the Summit:

- Pillar one: The protection responsibilities of the State
- Pillar two: International assistance and capacity-building
- Pillar three: Timely and decisive response

The strategy stresses the value of prevention and, when it fails, of early and flexible response tailored to the specific circumstances of each case. There is no set sequence to be followed from one pillar to another, nor is it assumed that one is more important than another.
